She loves performing and working together with her fellow actors to create fantastic performances. She also enjoys writing small scenes and monologues and performing them for her class. The Hammond theatre department has been her home away from home and she couldn't be more grateful to all the people a part of it.

Julia Steinberg is a sophomore at Hammond and is excited as always to be performing with the theatre department. You may have previously seen her in These Shining Lives, The Addams Family, Miss Gender, and Dramastics. She can't wait to be on stage in person again but for now the basement will have to do. Here's to two more years!

Isabel Moskov had a lot of fun working on this! she hadn't done stop-motion in years and got a ton of bug bites while filming, but she's pretty happy with the result.
